4 Quick Games to ▶ in Remote Learning

#1 Would You Rather?

This game can be played in the chat, or by taking turns.

- Ask your learners a question such as, "Would you rather be able to control animals (but not humans) with your mind or control electronics with your mind?"
- Hold space for 20 seconds for all learners to think.
- Ask them to respond in the chat or verbally.
- Repeat with new questions!

#2 Human Sculpture

Learners will need their video on for this game. Ask your learners to make themself into a human sculpture of objects or ideas. For example: a teapot, a house, liberty.

- Hold space for 20 seconds for all learners to think.
- Give them 1 minute to shape their body into a sculpture. Celebrate their efforts!
- Try again with new challenges.

#3 Pass the Emotion

Learners will need their video on for this game. Ask your learners to think of how they might show different emotions: anger, happiness, excitement, etc. Then, communicate an order of go. State the emotion they will be passing.

- Hold space for 20 seconds for all learners to think.
- The first learner expresses that emotion without words. The learner who is to follow them mimics their mannerisms.
- The "emotion" is passed to the next learner in the order, until all learners have participated.

#4 Feelings Scavenger Hunt

Learners can use their video or chat for this game

- Ask your learners to think of an object in their house that creates certain feelings: happiness, safety, excitement, etc.
- Hold space for 20 seconds for all learners to think of that object.
- Give all learners two minutes to find that object, and bring it to their computer.
- Ask a few learners to explain.
- Repeat with a new feeling!
